MATCH DAY REVIEW

North Beach Sea Eagles vs Fremantle Roosters - An absolute blockbuster to kick off our weekend, with the unbeaten defending premiers hosting the enigmatic Roosters. The Sea Eagles have looked slick and very fit in their two clashes so far this season and will look to continue to build. They welcome back the iceman Kani Solomon, while promising youngster Ryan Woolley holds his spot in the centres. For the Roosters, they looked a different machine with Delane back into the starting lineup and the return of Paora Kemp. The form of Wiremu Paki in particular has been top class.

Ellenbrook Rabbitohs vs Joondalup Giants - In a special ANZAC themed clash, the Rabbitohs will kick off the home opener against their northern neighbours. The Rabbitohs look very different once again as they cope with a transient club, but offer no excuses. They were better last week against the Lions, and will look for another big leap this weekend. Charlie Adams and Mikaira Te Kawa are big ins, and Fred Mafi in sparkling form. For Joondalup, they will put last week behind them and look to go again. With captain Gus Marshall in great form, and Brad Sparrow in undeniable form, they will be ready.

South Perth Lions vs Rockingham Sharks - The Lions were good last week against the Bunnies, with their superior fitness and middle firepower frustrating the new boys. But they face a new looking Sharks team. Paish had a field day last weekend continues to blossom on the left edge. And they welcome Jarrad Smith back from COVID isolation. But they will continue to look to Green and Noble to lead the way. For Rockingham, the welcome back a familiar face in Jeffrey, which pushes the promising Mato to the bench. The Sharks were blown out last week but a vengeful Roosters, but will reset and go again this weekend, with Pera and Worth in the middle in particular with a point to prove.

Val Murphy Trophy & Women's League Tag

WOMEN'S LEAGUE TAG

Blueforce Park, Charles Riley Reserve, North Beach - Kick Off - 11:20pm

North Beach Sea Eagles vs Alkimos Tigers

The league tag beast that is the North Beach Sea Eagles, host the resurgent Alkimos Tigers, who fancy themselves this year with some new players and a bit more experience in their lineup.

For North Beach, they won the competition in 2020, and have always been there or thereabouts in the last 5 years. Guru Trudy Whaanga continues to get good production out of her girls. But its consistency this northern giant will be looking for this season. The Robinson girls along with the Whaanga connection really need to lead and unleash players such as speedster Sinead Loundes.

For Alkimos, they came up short against the defending premiers in round 01, but showed flashes of improvement against a young Ellenbrook Rabbitohs team. With Renee Herewini leading them around, they have added to their experience with the mercurial Anneka Stephens, who has come in to mentor and lead this young and inexperienced side around. Defence will be number one on the agenda for this Alkimos side, but their ability to stay in the game for long periods will be the main thing that will decide this game.

Ellenbrook Rabbitohs vs Willagee Bears

An interesting clash up in Ellenbrook, with the winless Rabbitohs taking on the returning Willagee Bears. Due to a quirk in the draw, they actually played a fortnight ago, where the resurgent Bears ran away with the win in a high scoring game. Although both teams look much different now.

For Ellenbrook, it's a building time. The numbers are all coming back, and while that's a great thing, injury is also frustrating them as their ability to put consistent teams on the park has been tough. But they will be full of gusto this week behind captain Bryce Penny, who has been a standout. With Tyrese Grey into the fold, and the returns of Si Gardiner and EJ Lepa, they become a much more formidable side. Watch for the evergreen Alistair Taukei who proves age is just a number.

For WA Rugby League fans, its good to see the Bears back in the Men's competition. Celebrating a milestone year as well, they have a win and a narrow 2 point loss to start the season, and the vibe around Webber is really positive. And it's the locals doing them proud. Tremayne Kamso is back leading them around, and with Andrew Bannister and Luke Pollock calling the shots, they are an exciting and free-flowing team, who can bring it to anyone on their day.
