MATCH DAY REVIEW

Joondalup Giants vs South Perth Lions - The key game of the round, both teams will be looking to get some consistency in their camps after a stuttering opening 3 rounds. The Giants had a solid win over the Rabbitohs, but will be missing some key personnel in this fixture. Look for Browne and Marshall to guide them around. For the Lions, they let an early lead slip against a strong Sharks side, and will be looking for redemption here. Noble and Young look in good form up front, but the inclusion of some young guns in Cameron-Ramea and Keating will be telling.

Fremantle Roosters vs Ellenbrook Rabbitohs - The Roosters will be looking to make a statement at their home opening, and they will fancy themselves a big chance against the luckless Rabbitohs. They will field a strong line-up with Rangihaeata at the back, with Kemp and Kerr in the halves leading them around. This will allow the mercurial Edwards to come on in any position and make his presence felt. For the Bunnies, young Te Wake gets a chance at his natural fullback spot, and Lau and Sharpe up front will look to lead this young and inexperienced group around.

North Beach Sea Eagles vs Rockingham Sharks - The defending undefeated premiers put their record on the line again tomorrow, as the Sea Eagles host the Sharks. A bit of a bogey team for the Sea Eagles in previous years, Beach will be awake for this one. With Wallace out, the turn to the evergreen Godecke, who is one hell of a substitution. With Takarangi in tow, they won't be looking for any excuses. For the Sharks, its time to show their wares. Hunt is back in, Ravatudei at the back, and Tuuta-Edwards leading the pack, they will be looking for a complete performance. Bolth and Tuuta-Edwards off the bench should get them plenty of punch as they look to take one off the Sea Eagles.

Fremantle Roosters vs Ellenbrook Rabbitohs

In one of the show case pieces of the day, two giants of the Under 9s competitions will run out on Treeby Field for the first time, with all their fans watching and waving in this amazing show of rugby league. The last names alone are royalty at both clubs as the next generation hits the field.

For Fremantle, the likes of Jetta, Setu and Cameron will take to the field to show their wares wish some amazing running, while Wainohu and Langridge look take their tackle ready techniques for everyone to see. And lets not forget about Dubery-Tipiwai, Crutcher and Seumalu, who will be showing everyone how to combine both attack and defence in their first taste of rugby league on their new home field.

The visitors from Ellenbrook are coming a long way and will look to show their wares. Galiki, Ramsay-Streat and Wells will look to control the game with their hot stepping, while Schwenke, Frunks and Race will be a brick wall of defence in the middle. Hiko-Tutauha and Mangisi will try to use their speed to get around the field while Aiolupotea and Dumigan are powerful runners in their own right.

Get excited! How good is rugby league!

Ellenbrook Rabbitohs vs Alkimos Tigers - Wiremu Kahui Shield

While its only round 04 in the Val Murphy Trophy competition, there is plenty on the line here between two proud northern clubs. The Wiremu Kahui Shield is on offer for the winner, and the Rabbitohs will be desperate to get it back in their hands after the Tigers took the spoils in 2021.

For Ellenbrook, as they would say it, the OG bunnies have turned up for their fallen comrade. Seeto is a big in for them as a strike centre, and with Rameka and Penny in the halves it offsets the loss of Dylan Mahu, who is recovering from injury. But its on the bench that their experience shows, with Scheck, Ramsay and Duportail all backing up for this one. Watch out for senior Taukei at the back. He defies his age with great speed and agility.

The Tigers have had a tough draw so far, and will be raring to go in this one. Proud to be in this shield game, they have too much respect to take it easy on the Bunnies, and will be looking to play a powerful but smart game. Their powerful backrow of Rakena, Kihi-Jones and Martin will look to dominate proceedings, but a familiar face to the bunnies in Tawhi will be an interesting piece, as he played for the Bunnies last season. This will be a big and heartfelt contest.
