MATCH DAY PREVIEW - CRAZY SOCK ROUND & BLUEFORCE CUPR

North Beach Sea Eagles vs South Perth Lion - It's the inaugural Blueforce Cup between these two old rivals, and going into the last 5 rounds is basically for all the marbles now. Starting with South Perth. They got hot between Round 6 and Round 9. Knocking off the Sea Eagles, Giants and Sharks all in succession. But were taught a rugby league lesson in the wet last week by the Roosters. Which is probably bad news for their opponents. But the Lions are without Billy Judge, who has been close to their best of the last month. Thomas switches to the back, and Gourgaud is an able deputy in the centres. For Beach, they got back on the horse in the rain last week, after a string of close defeats. Defensively they have been solid, but their ball control has left their supporters scratching their heads. Its their second game back for their first choice spine, and they will need to get some consistency leading into finals. The welcome jack in the box Bowman Stein, while English prop Charlie Lumb reverts to the bench.

Joondalup Giants vs Fremantle Roosters - We have had two very different games between these teams. Round 01, the Giants frustrated the Roosters into an uncharacteristic game and grinded to victory. But in round 06, the Roosters put on an absolute clinic at home and showed the competition they would not be taken lightly. Since that game their fortunes have mirrored that result. The Roosters have gone on a tear, losing only a close one to the Sharks, while the Giants have only beaten fellow top four team the Sharks. Is that an omen? For Fremantle, Erueti has found some beautiful form on that wing for the Roosters, while Day and Rory have dominated in the backrow with ace Butler. For the Giants, its amazing how one man can change your fortunes, and the whole team is feeding off reigning Ken Allen Medallist Taurean Sheehan's energy.

Joondalup Giants vs Fremantle Roosters

The two most dominant teams as the competition has settled down, the Joondalup Giants and the Fremantle Roosters throw down, in what will be a massive mental edge when both teams play off in the finals. The Roosters gave the Giants a lesson in Round 01, but its been a long time since then.

The Giants have found their mojo after a slow start and are cutting a swathe through their recent opponents. Pouring on the points, on the back of ace players Hayley Utia and Shenae Gillmor, they have shouted a warning to the rest of the competition. But it's the improvement of players like Hayley Nepia and Frances Sparrow that has really contributed.

For the Roosters, they are on an absolute tear. 10 wins in a perfect season so far, it begs the question. Is it better to take a loss during the year? They play a beautiful style of league tag, with their ball movement allowing their speed to dominate fixtures. Attwell in particular has caused headaches for the defence this season, and when you add in Te Ahuru, its an even bigger nightmare. They lose a bit of speed today, but maintain massive experience with Traynor and Nicole in the lineup.

North Beach Sea Eagles Maroon vs South Perth Lions

The old enemies go head to head again in what should be an dynamite clash. With the Lions rolling over the top of the Roosters in a spiteful clash last week, the two most form sides go head to head in what should be an absolute show stopper, in the lead up to the Blueforce Cup fixture.

The Sea Eagles Maroon side just continue to get it done. 9 wins and a BYE from their 10 rounds and they sit pretty on top of the standings. It actually begs the question. When was the last time North Beach reserve grade lost? They have a great mix of youth, talent and ability. The growth of young playmaker Noonan next to the experienced Cook cannot be understand. But its their forwards, led by young gun Koby Rafferty, is exciting to watch.

The Lions are getting better every week and will fancy themselves in this one. On the back of a take no prisoners approach, their side puts their body on the line in every contest to be the most confrontational side in the game. Therkelsen has grown in confidence since his debut and Tumoana's switch to the back allows him some serious freedom to roam. Get down to watch this one.
