GOOSE STEP GAME DAY

Fuel to Go & Play™ Premiership

MND Awareness Round

MND stands for motor neurone disease. Motor neurones are the nerves that control our body movement.

With MND, something goes wrong with the motor neurones, and the messages from the brain can't get through. This means the muscles that help us to move, speak, breathe and swallow stop working normally.

As the nerve cells slowly stop working, muscles gradually weaken and waste.

MND is a progressive and life-limiting condition, meaning it will get worse over time. There are different types of MND and so each person will experience their own speed and pattern of muscle weakness. There is no cure for MND yet, but there are treatments and supports that improve quality of life and may help people to live longer.

Amongst the rugby league community, such high profile players as Carl Webb (QLD) and Rob Burrow (UK) have been diagnosed with MND. And locally we have our own stories, with many clubs being directly affected by MND, with Tony Spence creating the inaugural MND Match between the Joondalup Giants and North Beach Sea Eagles to help raise awareness, which has become a full round in the NRL WA competition.
